INSPECTOR ROBERTS DID

Mahuka Site Abandoned—
Spreckels "Sees" Newton
Relative to His Offering

By C. S. ALBERT.

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] WASHINGTON, June 22.—Treasury department officials finally have thrown some light on the federal building proposition in Honolulu. A final abandonment of the Mahuka site continues to be indicated. The improvement of the present structure by adding two stories will be a temporary makeshift until a new building is erected.

Assistant Secretary Newton, who has charge of such affairs, says the present plan is to await action by Congress on the bill now pending appropriating funds for the Honolulu public building. A new site will be selected after the money is available.
He said r. Spreckels consulted him recently regarding the purchase of the location offered on his behalf. He did not commit himself but merely said it was intended to take the Spreckels site or some other one which could be obtained on reasonable terms.

It was explained by Mr. Newton that with action by Congress there would be a total of $1,325,000 available for the site and new federal building at Honolulu. He believed the necessary legislation would be enacted before the adjournment of the present session.

In the meantime, according to Assistant Secretary Newton, it was desired to add two stories to the existing building, thus affording necessary facilities until the new structure could be completed.

It seems to be a near possibility that if the two stories are added to the old building it will be able to serve its present purpose for an indefinite period. The outlay of this money would be restricted by members of Congress as a wasteful extravagance unless utilized in more than a temporary manner.

Beyond securing the probable abandonment of the Mahuka site the report of Inspector Roberts seems to have accomplished but little.

HAWAIIAN CURIOS ARE PRESENTED TO MUSEUM BY MRS. WILLIAM MATSON

[By Latest Mail]
SAN FRANCISCO.—What is pronounced by Curator George Barron as one of the best collections recently received at the Memorial Museum in Golden Gate Park is a collection of war instruments of the aborigines of Hawaii, the gift of Mrs. William Matson.

In the collection are some savage-looking weapons, one being a short dagger pointed with a shark's tooth and bound in place with human hair.
War belts worn by the chiefs of the native tribes are also in the collection, and some peculiar human bone ornaments worn by high priests of prehistoric times in Hawaii.

Curator Barron pronounces the collection extremely valuable and interesting both from a historic and anthropological standpoint.

PUNAHOU AND CALIFORNIA PLAY BALL THIS AFTERNOON

This afternoon at 4 o'clock at Athletic Park the University of California and Punahou baseball teams will play a game that is attracting general interest among the fans. Although all the games of the series played to date have been full of excitement, the Punahou, composed for the most part of former college baseball stars, are more nearly an amateur organization than any of the other clubs in the Oahu league, and the showing that they make against the California collegians will be watched with interest.

Dodge is slated to pitch for California and Inman will be in the box for the Punahou.
Following is the probable batting order of the two teams:

Senate Passes Federal Site Bill

Allows $1,325,000; Reimburses Mahuka Site Owners

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable] WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—The Senate today passed the Warren Federal Building Site Bill, which limits the cost of site and building and the reimbursement for street work to $1,325,000.
This bill was introduced in the House and Senate at the instance of the treasury department on April 10, as the result of efforts on the part of R. W. Shingle to clear up the federal site matter.
This bill provides for the return to the owners of the original Mahuka site their holdings, together with the amount they and others contributed towards the $35,000 expended for street work.
In the matter of the appropriation of $1,325,000 the bill provides for the expenditure of this amount at the discretion of the secretary of the treasury in securing a new site for the construction of a building.
There is $600,000 immediately available for this work.

"This means that the federal building site appropriation is at last in shape to do business with," said Robert W. Shingle, president of the Waterhouse Trust Company, when informed today of the cablegram received by the Star-Bulletin. He had just received a private message from Washington with the same information.
"The bill will be passed at this session of Congress, I am confident. It should pass the house next week. I think the house committee on public buildings and grounds is practically agreed on a favorable report. The bill is the one introduced as a result of the visit I made to Washington and the situation when I was there seemed favorable for early action along the lines now followed."

"Action was held up a little while the committees awaited a report from the secretary of the treasury.
That report has been made and is favorable to the passage of the bill, which was introduced in both house and senate. The passage of the measure puts the secretary of the treasury in position to do business, for he is not restricted to any one site or to any particular division of the money between site and building.
The entire sum is placed at his disposal either to take the enlarged Mahuka site, with the Fort street extension, or to change to another site entirely. I don't think the enlarged Mahuka site will be chosen because the cost is considered excessive."

"Under the terms of the bill, the secretary can make any arrangement and this should expedite the securing of the building."

LUTTED BACK FROM VISIT TO GREAT GUSHER

Sticks to His Estimate and Figures on Dollar a Month Dividends

Bringing photographs and newspaper clippings describing the Lakeview No. 2 gusher, which he visited, J. Oswald Lutted returned from the coast this morning. He is enthusiastic over the outlook for the stockholders, claiming that his estimate wireless on June 7, being of a yield of 110,000 barrels of oil a day, was substantially correct.

"It is impossible to be exact," Mr.
Lutted said to a Star-Bulletin reporter.
"But from 100,000 to 110,000 barrels daily would be about the right amount."

Asked what the stock was rated at, he said he met one man willing to sell 200 shares at $25, but nobody else who would look at less than $50 a share.

"I believe that there should be dividends of one dollar a share monthly paid right along," said Mr. Lutted.
"On the 700,000 shares issued. There is every reason to expect that the gusher will run the same as that of Lakeview No. 1, which continued fifteen months and produced 10,000,000 barrels of oil."

"This is the biggest producer ever developed in the United States. At present the Standard Oil Co. is taking 12,000 barrels a day from it, all that its pipe lines can take care of.
Yet one of the other wells brought in by Lakeview No. 2 is producing 1200 or 1300 barrels a day, but it is not considered anything new."

"All attempts to cap the gusher have been abandoned. It blew out the casing at the top and created a crater eight feet wide. The only thing left to do was to trap the flow.
This is being done by erecting a bulkhead around the well forty feet high, which will confine the oil and act as a cushion against the uprush. From the bulkhead the oil will be partly admitted to pipe lines direct and partly carried to vast sump holes by means of ditches. When the flow is once controlled by these measures the great waste from spray scattered over the country will be stopped.
Just think of an oil creek from the well, two and one-half miles away, three feet wide and 14 feet deep."

"Great precautions have been taken against fire. A wire fence has been erected around the well, at a radius of a quarter of a mile from it, and a guard of 30 men placed outside.
Autos are not allowed within the enclosure and smoking is strictly prohibited there."

Various oil journals and other newspapers received here tell of the works mentioned by Mr. Lutted, also of clarifying plants being erected to rid a portion of the product of the gusher from impurities. One account states that oil requiring such treatment will yield the company from $10,000 to $15,000 daily after the plants have been installed. None of the reports gives as high an estimate of the gross yield as Mr. Lutted does, but the lowest is from 30,000 to 50,000 barrels daily.

SUPERVISORS EXPECT TO WORK ON BUDGET AT TONIGHT'S MEETING

The postponed hearing on the proposed improvement of the Puhiwa road will take place this evening in the chamber of the supervisors. Objections have been made to the carrying out of this work, and for the better hearing of these objections the board agreed to take them up this evening.

NO CHANCE NOW FOR RESTORATION OF SUGAR DUTY

Secretary Redfield Kills Hope That Administration Might Anticipate Some Change

Confirming his telegram of June 6, in which he stated that he had no knowledge of the anticipated restoration of part of the sugar duty, William C. Redfield, secretary of the department of commerce has addressed the following letter in reply to inquiries made by the San Francisco agents of Giffard & Roth following the publication in the San Francisco Chronicle of an interview alleged to have been had with Mr. Redfield:

Gentlemen:—Your favor of the 2d is received.

I confirm my telegram of the 6th, as follows:

"Telegram second seen first time today. Know nothing of interview in Chronicle. Have no knowledge that anyone is considering restoring part sugar duty."

I have no knowledge of the Chronicle article and remember no interview.
The facts are that at the request of several senators some months ago the bureau of corporations of this department began an inquiry into the beet sugar industry in all its phases and is now pursuing it. It is not an inquiry into the cost of production strictly so called, though that will form a feature of it. The reason this distinction, however, is made here is that the so-called cost-of-production inquiries are made in a separate bureau (the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce) and out of a separate appropriation and have a rather more restricted scope. The sugar beet inquiry now going on takes into account every element in the industry and not merely the one factor of the cost of production. It is not intended to have any relation whatever to legislation, pending or proposed, but is solely to ascertain the facts regarding the industry in its different phases. The field work will not be done for some weeks yet and the report will probably not be ready until the latter part of the fall.

There is no justification for any statement made by anybody that as a result of this inquiry it is contemplated to restore in whole or in part any of the sugar duties. No action of any nature is to be predicated on the report until its contents shall be fully known, and its inception had nothing to do with any suggestion as to the restoration of duties. It is not at all proper that anyone should be discouraged either to buy or sell stocks upon the pendency of an inquiry which is incomplete.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) WILLIAM C. REDFIELD, Secretary.

SAN FRANCISCO WOMAN LEARNS OF DEATH OF DAUGHTER IN HAWAII

The death of Mrs. Hugh Mercer Tucker, well-known soprano, who was prominent here in numerous charitable enterprises, was announced in a cablegram received by her mother, Mrs. Barrett Beers of 1277 Geary street, from Waialea, Hawaii, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

Mrs. Tucker, who was Mabel Beers before her marriage, was the daughter of the late Dr. Barrett Beers, one of San Francisco's pioneer surgeons.
Her mother was a belle of Salt Lake City in the early eighties. Tucker is superintendent of the Boys' Industrial Home in Waialea.

GRAND JURY TO COMPLETE CASE THIS AFTERNOON

McCarney-McBride Incident Is Probed and Decision Will Be Reached Today

Shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon the members of the federal grand jury assembled in conference with Alexander Lindsay, Jr., relative to its deliberations in the McCarney-McBride matter and decided to withhold any decision until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

During the afternoon session Mr.
Lindsay was called before the insultors, presumably to make a decision on a point of law.

Sometime during the afternoon or evening, the federal grand jury will bring in its report on the McCarney-McBride row, which has been the subject of investigation by it for eight days. If no unseen obstacle intervenes.

Shortly before noon today, the last of the witnesses had been called before the grand jury and, as the last one left the room, Alexander Lindsay, Jr., special investigator appointed by the attorney-general, stepped out of the room, leaving the jurors to deliberate.

At 12 o'clock they took a recess for luncheon, and reconvened at 1:15 o'clock, and the statement was given out then that they would continue in session until a decision was reached.
What this decision will be is of course unknown, and the oath of the jurors forbids them discussing the case.

The jury has been in half-day sessions for eight days, and Mr. Lindsay has been engaged in the case for almost twice that time. More than a score of witnesses have been examined, the last ones of which appeared this morning.

Deputy U. S. Marshal David Sherwood returned from Hilo this morning with Silvester Freeman and his wife, who were before the jury for quite awhile. Freeman and his wife were the defendants in the trial U. S.
District Attorney McCarn was engaged in at the time of the assault. Attorney Leon Straus was another witness interrogated. It is not known what connection if any he had with the case. Harry Lake, detective in the city and county attorney's office, was also before the body, as he was one of two police officers who arrived on the scene shortly after the encounter.

THAYER RETURNS FROM WHIRLWIND MAUI CAMPAIGN

Aroused Considerable Interest in Plebiscite, on $119,000 Bond Issue, of Saturday

After a rather strenuous campaign on Maui in the interests of the proposed bond issue, a plebiscite on which will be held June 27, Wade Warren Thayer, secretary of the territory, returned this morning, and once more became involved in the endless routine work of the office.

Reports from Maui prove that his appearance there, and the speeches he made at the several leading towns, accomplished the thing he mainly desired—which was to arouse interest in the coming plebiscite. His flight was as much against the "negative attitude" of a few of the leading men of the island on the proposed bond issue itself. In that respect his mission to Maui was twofold.

Secretary Thayer does not offer a prediction on the outcome of the plebiscite. He does say, however, that he is thoroughly convinced that the bond issue should be made.

CARRANZA REFUSES TO CONFER WITH HUERTA ON NEW MEXICAN HEAD

Secretary to Constitutionalists' Leader Says Latter Feels Capable of Forcing Issue and Naming Own Choice for Office H. A. Maytorena in San Francisco Takes Issue With Statement, Maintaining That Power of Rebel Chief Will Be But Short-Lived—Claims Movement for Overthrow Has Been Under Way for Many Months.

[Associated Press service by Federal Wireless.] NEW ORLEANS, La., June 23.—Alfredo Breceda, private secretary to General Carranza, states that Carranza's representatives will not meet with Provisional Huerta's agents in any attempt to choose a successor to Huerta.

According to Breceda, Carranza feels positive of his ability to cope with the Federal forces and force through a man of his own choosing to head the Mexican government.

GOVERNOR'S NEPHEW SEES CARRANZA'S FINISH

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 23.—Dispatches from New Orleans, telling of the statement of Breceda, are at direct variance with a statement made by H. A. Maytorena, nephew of the governor of the State of Sonora.
Maytorena says that the overthrow of Carranza's power is but a matter of a very short time, possibly days.

He says the movement has been going on quietly for three or four months, but for political reasons it was kept secret and all concerned affected a friendly attitude toward Carranza and his leadership. But Carranza has not fulfilled the wishes of the people whom he professes to represent and charges of gigantic graft are laid to him.

The new administration of the rebels will first of all call for a decided reduction in the military tax now levied by Carranza to the point of bankruptcy of the people. The advice received by Maytorena says that the people in Mexico have reached the conclusion that if Carranza is continued in power over the rebel forces or should he finally become president of the republic, a reign of despotism far worse than that of Huerta would exist in Mexico.

"What will be done with Carranza when he departs from Mexico do not exactly state," says Maytorena. "It depends largely on who gets hold of him. With the Maderista withdrawn Carranza will have no military following and cannot hold together even what is left of him. With Carranza eliminated, graft in the rebel states will be at an end. Villa, Angeles and my uncle, the leaders, are patriots and want peace and honor restored. Villa went into the rebel movement against Huerta to avenge the death of his friend, Madero, and now he will have a better chance than ever."

EL PASO, Texas, June 23.—According to information given out today that there is no thought or necessity of the Federal garrison leaving.

So severe was the shock from the collision that several passengers on board the Gebra were catapulted aboard the Koenigin Luise.

CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR GIVE AD CLUB SPEECHES ON THEIR PLANS

J. C. Cohen and Harry E. Murray Express Views; Lane and Fern Await Party Platforms

Two avowed candidates for mayor gave vigorous expression to some of their views of local government and their policies if elected to the office before a largely-attended gathering of Ad Club members at the club's weekly luncheon in the Young Hotel today.

Joel C. Cohen and Harry E. Murray, both of whom are seeking the nomination on the Republican ticket, wore the two who gave the Ad Club some definite ideas, and both of them featured good roads and economy in civic administration.

John C. Lane, another candidate, did not attend the luncheon. He sent a letter to the club explaining that he is unable now to give utterance to his platform or policies and that he prefers to wait to see what the Republican platform calls for as he is running as a Republican.

Mayor Joseph J. Fern made a similar announcement, but he attended the meeting and made the announcement personally. The mayor opened a very brief speech with the statement that the daily papers of the city twist up everything he says until he is made to "talk like one Chinaman," and went on to declare that for this reason he had put his speech in writing. Thereupon he read the following:

"Mr. President and Members of the Club:
"I thank you for the invitation extended to me to participate in the discussions of today. But as I am the mayor and in office, I cannot see my way clear now to announce my policies until the political platform of the Democratic party is announced."

"For the new aspirants, it is well that they so now announce their views on the questions of the day.

SENATOR RICE WELL PLEASED WITH HILO TRIP

Returns from Hilo But Will Leave for Kauai This Evening; Campaign Now Open

Senator Chas. A. Rice, candidate on the Republican ticket for delegate to congress, returned from Hilo this morning, and will leave this evening for Kauai.

"I did not go out of Hilo," said Senator Rice this morning, "as I did not have more than two days to spend on the island. I met a good many of my political friends over there and am quite satisfied with my trip."

"This evening I leave for Kauai, but I will be back here soon to spend some time on this island. I will return to Hawaii later on and make it a longer visit."
This trip of Senator Rice's to Hilo marked the opening of his campaign.
From now until the primary, he will probably keep on the run, making a whirlwind campaign of the
